New York Stock Market

NEW YORK, June 22.—A recovery in prices to-day was to be expected in view of the lack of foundation for the rumors which circulated in the stock market yesterday to account for the sciling. As the report of E. H. Harriman's sudden and fatal illness was quickly disproved, the conclusion followed that it was put in currency with the puppose of forcing sciling of stocks in the interest of the hear position. The appearance of a groundless rumor of this importance and seriousness is taken usually as an indication of growing difficulty in a speculative position. The hears, in consequence, found their following considerably reduced to-day, and those of them that were still short of stocks felt inclined to cover.

There was renewed buying also from the large commission houses, from which selling yesterday gave the impression of important liquidation. Supporting orders at influential points in the market made themselves felt, but were withdrawn later in the day. There was given a recurrence of some of the "deal" rumors, which had become discredited by the violent drop in prices. The buying of United States Steel, the Harriman Pacific and Reading proved particularly imposing, and had a strong influence on sentiment toward the whole market. The assertion was venured again that there might be something about to happen to account for the material advance which had occurred in the price of the Wabash stocks. Attention was directed also to a report of the proposed construction of a railroad strip which would connect the Rock Island with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Though these and other factors

nect the Rock Island with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Though these and other factors served some purpose in keeping selling orders off the market and in inducing some buying of stocks, the demand proved to be but desultory, and the action of the market became extremely listless. The order of the activity

The order of the activity was reversed from that of yesterday, when the lethargic early market emerged into the violont selling of the last hour. To-day the greater part of the day's business was completed in the first hour, and the latter part of the first hour, and the latter part of the day's business was completed in the first hour, and the latter part of the day's business was completed in the first hour, and the latter part of the session at the higher level of prices was semi-stagnant.

The tone of the foreign markets was somewhat heavy and dull, and this deprived the recovery here of encouragement. The general settlement to be effected in the London stock market to-morrow partly accounted for the halting tendency. A-theavy fall in prices since the last settlement leaves some large differences to be covered. That part of those differences to be covered. That part of those differences are for account of New York holders of stocks in London was evidenced by the keen demand for cable remittances. Foreign exchange rates were thus held at the advance, which points to a resumption of the export movement of gold.

Favorable crop reports and an unexpected increase in local receipts were the chief reasons for weakness in the corn market. Reports from sections of the corn bett claimed the new crop was getting a magnificent start under most favorable conditions, The market was, also bearishly affected by a report from Omaha that large quantities of corn, originally intended for shiftmat to the South, wore accumulating there, owing to a falling off in demand. Oats slumped sharply on realizing sales based on denials of damage by green bugs to the new crop in Southern Illinois. The close was weak with prices % to 1@1%c, below yesterday's final quotations, Provisions were weak the entire day because of selling by local longs, who were influenced by the weekness of course grain and by a decline of 50c. in live hogs. Prik displayed the greatest weakness, and closed 10450c, below the previous close. Lard and ribs were of 242114c.

DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 22.—The dry goods market is generally strong. There are some places in which prices have not responded to the recent rises in raw materials, but they are gradually growing fimer. Buying is larger for future delivery and the movement of goods is large. Current trading in the jobbing business is light for immediate delivery, but large orders are being placed in some quarters for cloths, dress goods, hosiary, etc.
